System VMs

- Provide a complete system environment that can support an operating system (potentially with many user processes)

- It provides operating system running in it access to underlying hardware resources (networking, I/O, a GUI).

- Virtualizing software placed between hardware and software (emulates the ISA interface seen by software)

- The virtualization software is called VMM (Virtual Machine Monitor)